So Angry as to Be Incoherent, Shortly Before He Was Killed, Operator Testifies.

DEFENDANT ILL BUT GOES TO COURT

More Evidence That Man Ft. Worth, Tex., Evangelist Killed Was Dangerous in His Cups.

By F. A. BENJAMIN, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 19.—The Rev. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth, Tex., preacher on trial for the murder of P. E. Chipp, last night, was able to be in court this morning and the trial, interrupted yesterday by his illness, was resumed.

Jesse Brown, former district attorney at Fort Worth, testified that Chipp's reputation for being overbearing, quarrelsome and abusive, when drinking.

Chief of Police Lee of Fort Worth told of going to the Baptist church when the shooting occurred and arresting Norris. He was asked about Chipp's reputation. The chief said Chipp was quarrelsome and when drinking, out added that he was harmless.

Attorney Simpson for the defense asked if he had not said he did not want to testify on account of his illness. He said he had not.

Austin during the trial said he refused to come back unless compelled by the court, but said he had gone home because he was sick and was only leaving when he said to go to the court.

He declared he had not drunk since being called to the court, but would not testify for either side but only from the right.

in the Constitution for the office of Senator. He is over 30 years of age, has been a citizen of the United States for 14 years, and is an inhabitant of the state of Illinois.

"He is not disqualified by reason of any inhibition in the fourteenth amendment."

The Illinois Senator said he would outline briefly his views on the right of Col. Smith to take the oath at this time.

"It has been the practice of the Senate to administer the oath to the Senator-elect or designate when he presented himself at the bar of the Senate with credentials in proper form."

right of Mr. Smith to a seat then it overcomes the prima facie showing made by the certificate of the Governor of Illinois, and the question becomes one of first instance, and must be tried out and settled by the Senate.

"Valence Already Gathered."

"To my mind, under such conditions, it is almost absurd to say that the oath must be first administered and then a hearing of the evidence already having been gathered, and then an expulsion take place. That would be a ridiculous performance."

"I grant, that we should proceed in this matter with circumspection, with deliberation, and always with a view to the preservation of justice. But to my mind the showing that has been made and the evidence reported in the Senate discloses such fraudulent conduct by the applicant as to make it a justifiable conclusion that his appointment springs from a corrupt motive."

Reed Questioned by Borah.

"Technically, no," replied Reed, "but until the Senator from Idaho thought of that distinction I question whether it had ever occurred to anybody else."

"No," retorted Borah, "the Senator from Idaho is not the originator of that question. It was raised by one of the most distinguished Senators of the past."

"Perhaps," said Reed, "but what a strange construction that is of words."

"They exchanged remarks," Borah remarked, "but the Senator from Idaho said that the Senator from Missouri."

"I am glad of that," said Reed, "for whenever I find myself in agreement with the Senator from Idaho I feel that I have been very nearly right. But the fact that I am in agreement with him on most occasions does not remove the date of his unconstitutional entry in my mind."

Reed then went on with his argument. "It seems to me that the question that the Senate must first settle is whether or not the applicant has been guilty of fraud and perjury by two Kentucky judges."

Reed's Argument Assailed.

MRS. SIDENER GETS DIVORCE AND ALIMONY

CORNELL STUDENT SENTENCED FOR SLAPPING DATE-BREAKER

George W. Lloyd, 24, given 10-day jail term. Also fined for firing pistol.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 13.—George W. Lloyd, 24, years out of high school, a junior at Cornell University, was sentenced to 10 days in jail for slapping the face of a woman who had broken her date with him. He also is fined $100 for firing a pistol.

Lloyd is alleged to have fired at four men students who went to his room to remonstrate with him over his conduct. The sentence, imposed in Magistrate Court, was suspended until Feb. 2, to permit Lloyd's participation in the mid-year examinations. He pleaded guilty.

It was Miss Adeline Pittell of New York, a senior in the art college, who accused Lloyd. He slapped her with his glove, according to testimony, while both were among the skating throng at Buckle Lake.

FIGHT TO BAR SMITH BEGINS IN THE SENATE

Roberts presented proper credentials. In the Senate, he said, Senator Lyman Trumbull of Illinois, a noted jurist, had asked that the oath of office be not administered to Benjamin Smith, who had been appointed Senator by the Governor of Oregon. Trumbull, Wash. stated, was an authority to whom any Illinois lawyer would listen with respect.

Senator Overman (Dem.) of North Carolina submitted a resolution reading: "Resolved, That Frank L. Smith of Illinois, duly appointed a Senator of that State by the Governor thereof, is entitled to take the constitutional oath of office and to be admitted to the Senate, and that he be seated without prejudice to any subsequent proceedings in the case."

Overman for seating Smith. Overman submitted a report of a Senate committee made years ago to support his contention that the Senate could not add to the list of senatorial qualifications set forth in the constitution. He pointed out that a Senatorhip designated to take his seat was a precedent which had never been departed from, Overman declared. He added that if the rule now proposed to exclude Smith and Jones, it might be applied to any Senator who might be elected in the future.

The Constitution empowers Congress to pass on the question of the right of a Senator to take the oath. Smith had not yet taken the oath, and therefore was not a Senator.

The case of Smith, a former of North Carolina, was the subject of a resolution introduced by Senator Stephen A. Reed of Kansas. The resolution had to do with the Senate's right to refuse to seat a Senator who had been elected in violation of the Constitution.

Opposing the admission of the oath to Smith, Senator Hiram Bland of Missouri said Smith had been elected in violation of the Constitution. He said the Senate should not seat him. The Alabama senator said the Senate would put itself in a position to question the right of the people to elect their representatives, and then "kick him out" at the next session when he presented his credentials as a Senator.

When you vote on this question, Senators, said Bland, you are making a statement. Is this body to become a clearing house for the money changers? This body cannot accept the proposition that the sole standard of election is the question. How much are they worth for votes today? The right to corrupt the electorate and to buy public office has been tolerated since the beginning of time.

Senator Charles McNary of New Hampshire, who introduced the resolution, said the Senate should not seat Smith. He said the Senate should not seat a Senator who had been elected in violation of the Constitution.

A care-free confidence that teeth are CLEAN

Clean teeth laugh at fear of disease, decay or imaginary dental troubles.

If teeth and smile are a telling asset in the keen struggle of business, it's a smile unclouded by the fear of dental ills.

By the dual action of Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream, teeth have been washed, polished—whitened—and protected against decay.

Dual Cleansing Action

Modern mouth hygiene demands a dentifrice with a dual cleansing action. Colgate's formula is based on this principle. As you brush, Colgate's expands into a plentiful bubbling foam. First this foam loosens imbedded food particles and polishes all tooth surfaces.

Then it thoroughly washes the entire mouth—teeth, gums, tongue—sweeping away all impurities. Thus the dual action of Colgate's cleanses, polishes and protects.

If your teeth are normally healthy, you can't keep them so thoroughly clean as plus regular visits to your dentist. And your teeth will be cleaner if you use this dentifrice designed to clean, rather than some drug-filled dentifrice that claims to cure but fails to clean.

Crystal Felt Hats Painted Felt Hats

Two Style-Successes
Are Reproduced at $10

The beloved Felt Hat is given an entirely different aspect in these two young, but flourishing modes. In one the whole surface has a frosted or crystal effect that softens the color and contrasts with the darker plain color of the underbrim. In the other, painting of contrasting color gives an allover dappled effect that is youthful and decidedly chic!

Shown in the fashionable crushed-crown effects with brims that turn up, or are smartly narrow in back and wider at sides and front.

PROSECutors SEEK SLAYERS OF TWO Deputy Sheriff and Assistant Postmaster in Kentucky Shot Down. PRESTON, Ky., Jan. 19. (AP)—Prosecutors today are searching for slayers of a deputy sheriff and an assistant postmaster, shot down in separate actions of blood.

Not active, continuous treatment

Sore throat fight it wherever you are! Not just a gargle when you get home

ONLY a slight raspiness. But almost before you know it your throat is fearfully sore! But not if you start antiseptic treatment instantly. Not if you make your treatment continuous.

With Formamint, your throat is kept continuously bathed in an antiseptic of proved germicidal power. Yet Formamint is absolutely harmless.

Carry a bottle of Formamint with you. Take one tablet every hour or so to treat sore throat, every 2 or 3 hours to prevent it. All druggists. The Bauer Chemical Co.

HE MADE MACHINES THAT MADE JONES

PETER CARL BRUCKMANN

men whom he duped, searching about for something good to do.

But Jones did not make the machines. He was clever enough to get the most of the centrifugal clothes drier, called by handymen an extractor, which Bruckmann invented in his little machine shop on Natural Bridge road, three years ago.

So Jones talked the inventor into coming in with the David Jones Co. He bought Bruckmann's patent for the drier and later put it into the hands of a manufacturer.

Bruckmann has to show for all his machine and to have a good and his inventions, which are much more valuable than the money of what a very charming man Jones seemed to be.

Other men than Bruckmann are profiting really, though, from the same sweet money. Bruckmann is the inventor of the clothes drier, which is now being sold in many parts of the country.

old for $675 each and the washers were priced from $900 to $2000 each, according to size. Jones had the idea that his laundry supply business would pay for the operation of the plant and all we made from the machines would be clear profit. But he wasn't selling machines as fast as he had figured.

"I believed that Jones was working on the wrong principle. Instead of dealing with established laundrymen who could pay cash for machines, Jones specialized in small struggling concerns which were usually working in opposition to laundrymen of sound financial standing. Jones was always behind the little fellows for more than they were worth. He'd start men in business right across the street from an well-established laundry, and then expect them to pay out on their machines.

"Checks began coming back and our vice-president, Mr. Walter Schultz, resigned. I headed a committee of stockholders last September which asked Jones for a financial statement. He promised us one, but we never got it. We never could pin Jones down on his financial affairs. He was such a talker."

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

Most men and women past fifty must give to the bowels some occasional help, else they suffer from constipation. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect a gentle aid to weak bowels.

Is your present laxative, in whatever form, promoting natural bowel "regularity"—or must you purge and "physic" every day or two to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, or sour, gassy stomach?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural, regular bowel movement even for those chronic-

FAITH HEALERS EXEMPT IN NEW MEDICAL BILL

Measure Introduced in Missouri House to Tighten Regulation of Licenses.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 19.—Exemption of Christian Scientists and other religious groups embracing spiritual means and prayer in the treatment of disease from the state medical license law is provided in a bill introduced in the House today. The bill, introduced by Dr. C. H. Wallace of Buchanan County, is sponsored by the Missouri State Medical Association and the State Board of Health.

Aside from exempting the faith healers, it would tighten up the medical license requirements. It would provide for reciprocity with other states in licensing of physicians and would give the secretary of the State Board of Health authority to the complaints in the instances of violation of the Medical Practice Act.

Attempts to tighten the requirements were beaten in the last session of the Legislature because sponsors refused to exempt faith healers. Recently the Legislature has agreed to exempt faith healers from the medical license law.

The bill defines in greater detail than the present law the educational requirements for an applicant for a license to practice medicine. The present law requires a certificate of graduation from an accredited high school or its equivalent and a diploma from a reputable medical college of four years' standing. The new bill sets forth that the college applicant must have at least a high school diploma or its equivalent and a diploma from a reputable medical college of four years' standing.

The bill also provides that the person applying for a license must have a good moral character and a good reputation in the community. It also provides that the person applying for a license must have a good moral character and a good reputation in the community.

RADICAL CHANGES IN STATE JUDICIAL SYSTEM PROPOSED

Constitutional Amendment Would Permit Increase in Number of Judges.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 19.—Radical changes in the Missouri judicial system are proposed by a constitutional amendment introduced in the House today.

The amendment would increase the number of judges in the Missouri Supreme Court from five to seven. It also would provide for the election of judges by the people at large, instead of by the voters of their respective counties. The amendment would also provide for the election of judges by the people at large, instead of by the voters of their respective counties.

There's More to This than Health!

Cleans So Thoroughly, Even Perspiration Can't Offend

All the fresh laxatives in the world can't tempt people who understand the properties of cascara. A hundred artificial drugs will purge the bowels, but a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cascara gives the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as a defense against body decay.

Your grandparents' cough pills and flower washed away the mucous membrane with the waste. Mineral salts are better, but still leave the coating that clogs the throat. Then came off through the pores. But when you cascade the system, you get rid of all the poison by normal muscular action of the bowels.

Don't get in the habit of taking medicine for constipation—except for auto-intoxication. If you have the habit, stop it. A candy cascade is a delightful form in which to take cascara. Children love them and the taste tempts most grown-ups to take "fruit." And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather. Try a cascara tonight. Ad drug-gists, 10c & 25c.

Chief Justice

SUGGESTS STATES CO-ORDINATE THE POLICE AND CO

Would Permit Judges to dence and Explain Law as Federal J

FOLLOWING is the text of the authorized interview with William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, published in the Jan. 22 issue of Colliers, the National Weekly, and reproduced here by permission. It was written by Oliver P. Neuman.

CAN anything be done to curb the crime and lawlessness sweeping over the United States today? William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, says "Yes." He goes further. With characteristic optimism, he believes that they will be curbed.

Between present conditions and that ideal time, however, he sees pressing need of important changes in methods of detection, prosecution and prevention—changes that can be made effective only by action of the State legislatures.

Apparently much improved in health, Justice Taft, the only living ex-President of the United States, is back at work on the Supreme Court. He seems to have recovered from the heart attack which he sustained last spring and, in appearance and spirit, is friendlier, kinder and cheerfulness. He is the Taft of old. His waist line may be somewhat diminished, but his famous smile and his wholesome amiability are unchanged. He recently celebrated his sixty-ninth birthday in the midst of a happy domestic circle, which included the 18 grandchildren who have become the pride of his later years.

No More Hill-Climbing. He looks well, and his daily walks continue to be one of the traditional institutions of Washington. He takes his exercise "on the hill" every pleasant afternoon, but when he thinks the walks are limited to half an hour, the pace is moderated and grades are avoided.

The doctors have told him that hill-and-stair-climbing are taboo, so in the new addition to his modest home on Wyoming avenue, an automatic elevator has been installed to carry him to the sunny office and library on the third floor, where in undisturbed comfort he may spend his working hours grappling the problems presented to him in the Supreme Court room at the Capitol.

"I have had a warning," he explained, "and I realize that the course of wisdom is to heed it."

Justice Taft's views on the administration of criminal law were brought to Colliers in the belief that the question is now pressing upon public attention and in the hope that an expression from such an authority would stimulate action for betterment of conditions. In response, he made an exception to his rule against talking on current subjects while a member of the bench.

He feels that the seriousness of the situation and the need of action justify him, even in his present position, in according to the request that he give his views.

Public Must Be Awakened. "If public attention can be aroused and fixed on this question for a reasonable time," he said, "so that it can be introduced into public opinion as a problem for promoting or defeating measures to be taken by the legislature and executive offices, as inquiry may show energy and action on the one hand, or neglect and inaction on the other, something useful must result."

Justice Taft was asked whether anything had especially awakened his interest in the subject, and in reply he recalled a little-known episode in his early life, which had turned his attention to the criminal situation.

"I cannot speak as a profound expert," he said, "I never practiced criminal law except as representing the State and Government in criminal cases. But I have given attention to this matter my whole life long, because my interest was awakened and my observation quickened by my early experience at the bar."

"While I was studying for the bar I sought to get a better insight by acting as a law reporter at the county courthouse" in Cincinnati, for the Cincinnati Times-Star, for the Cincinnati Commercial, owned and conducted by Marshall Halestead. This threw me into an intimate knowledge as to how prosecutions went on in that courthouse in the city and county."

I had not been in the bar more than six or eight months before I was made Assistant Prosecuting Attorney and was thrown into the active prosecution of crime in Cincinnati and vicinity. It was a most to write a history of the United States, either for schools or for the general public that does not give full and accurate account of the development of the West as it now given of the East. That time may be far off. It may never come; for we may never become a homogeneous people, cherishing in common all our great traditions.

Perhaps our country is too large;

perhaps too many unassimilable people have swarmed already upon our shores.

Nevertheless, it is something worth hoping for, and it is in this hope that such contributions as that here listed should be welcomed.

The story of John Colter is one of the most heroic in our annals;

and if his exploits had been no more than a revelation of human courage, he would still deserve well of his countrymen in all generations, for is not courage the fundamental virtue after all? But Colter has other claims upon the memory of men, as those who shall read Mr. Vinton's very interesting book on the subject must agree.

References to Colter are to be found in many of the early books of Western travel, beginning with the Journals of Lewis and Clark; and ever since Bradbury and Washington Irving told of his thrilling experiences from the Blackfoot, that episode has been retold in many versions. It has remained for Mr. Vinton to undertake the first connected account of the man's career as an adventurer and his achievements as an explorer. For the first time an account of the Colter family is given, and there is a good deal of original and revealing comment on Colter's traits. Otherwise, there is naturally not much to tell that is new to students of Western history, for records say little of this remarkable man who, in his own lifetime was scarcely credited and who died in a vague legend 113 years ago last fall. But even close students of Western history will feel that Mr. Vinton's synthesis of hitherto scattered fragments, enriched by some very pertinent comment, constitutes a new and worthy contribution.

It will be remembered that a grave, said by old-timers to be that of John Colter, was scooped up by a steam shovel near Durand during June of last year. So little did even his home country know of him!

FRANCISCAN ITALY. By Harold Elsdale Goad, Dutton.

To be unacquainted with the life of St. Francis of Assisi is to miss one of the most remarkable examples in history of a very high type of genius, perhaps the highest, as it is the rarest—the genius of saintliness. No doubt many have ignored Saint Francis for sectarian reasons, which, in this case, at least, are not good reasons. Essentially the life of this man is of universal human significance. Harold Elsdale Goad tells in detail in this handsome volume the whole story of the saint, and his account is made vivid by his intimate knowledge of the country in which the good man labored.

"I am a member of the Ku Klux Klan."

"I have friends of the Catholic faith," he continued. "I know many priests of the Catholic Church; I know three or four Bishops and one or two Archbishops, and I join the Senator from Maryland (Bruce), in the statement that no living Catholic has ever appealed to me to raise a religious dispute or to seek to stir up animosity or provoke war with Mexico."

Reed then for the first time in the current discussion went on public record for a firm hand in his dealings with Mexico.

Hauls Off Coolidge Policy.
"I hold no brief for Mr. Coolidge or his subordinates," he said, "but in the difficult situation that we are in, I do not want to weaken the executive to protect the interests of the United States until and unless it becomes manifest that he is pursuing a dangerous course."

"I do not want to weaken his hand in the effort he is making peacefully to settle the controversy which exists, and, sir, I do not believe any man in any danger of war with Mexico unless it is stirred up by intemperate speeches and intemperate articles in newspapers."

"We have as a nation a very great responsibility. We have said under the Monroe doctrine that no foreign Government shall establish itself upon this hemisphere, and while it is not written in the Monroe doctrine in words, as we have construed that doctrine, we in effect warn other nations, that is, the nations of the Eastern hemisphere, that they must not undertake the conquest of nations on this side of the ocean.

Where the Danger Lies.

"We have, therefore, a difficult and delicate task, one which requires negotiation and frequently great patience. Mr. Wilson was criticised bitterly for his policy of 'watchful waiting' in Mexico. Mr. Wilson was right when he sought to conduct affairs that he would not become really engaged in a war, although we were obliged to invade that country."

A Delicate Problem.
"Mexico has not in all respects kept faith with us, and I desire to see her keep faith, but I am not unkind of the fact that when our Government seeks to accomplish the fulfillment of Mexico's obligations we have a difficult and delicate problem before us, and I am willing to give the administration a chance to work out that problem. If it is pusillanimous, if it makes no show of real earnestness, it will be criticised. If it makes a little show of earnestness, somebody at once declares there is going to be war."

No Religious War.
"There is not going to be any war with Mexico unless Mexico forces that war by violating the rights of the United States, and I do not believe that any man connected with the administration has the slightest notion of engaging in a war because of any religious differences in Mexico. We may regret these differences, we may look upon them with horror; but I undertake to say that we will not violate any principle of international law in order to make war upon Mexico."

"Nevertheless, a firm policy with Mexico is necessary, and on entirely different grounds trouble might arise; but Calvin Coolidge is not going to march an army down into Mexico over a controversy about religion, and nobody is going to let him do it if he should try to."

"There is a condition there of gross and brutal mistreatment. I think not only of the Catholic Church, but of all other churches that have any establishment there. But that is a question for Mexico. It is not for us. I think that what I say now is the sentiment in the hearts of the Catholic population of this country as well as the non-Catholic population."

Reed then entered upon a stirring eulogy of the part played by Catholics at the birth of the nation and in every war in the nation's history. He asked the country to remember that Catholics and Protestants, Jews and Gentiles, fought side by side in all these struggles. Reed was never more the emotional orator than in his peroration.

Women in the galleries wiped tears from their eyes as he told of the devotion of Protestant nuns and Catholic nuns in the great war, and pictured the common sufferings of Catholic and Jewish boys in the trenches.

"If my country means anything to me, sir," he said, "it means that its constitution is broad enough to protect every man in the right to his faith, every man in the right to his opinion, every man in the right to his speech, in his right to peaceable assembly, and in his privilege to print his views and make them known to all men."

"If this country is to live, then these fountain springs, bearing the pure waters of absolute liberty of conscience must not be polluted with the poison of hate, covered with the slime of proscription, or damned and cursed by the spirit of intolerance, the child of ignorance. Give me the radius of any man's intelligence, and I will describe the circumference of his powers."

A Tilt With Heflin.
Heflin interrupted to ask whether Reed had heard the reading of the Knights of Columbus resolution.

"Oh, I heard that," retorted Reed impatiently. "I do not want to have a personal argument with my friend. I would prefer leaving all that out of the equation."

"Then I deny," stormed Heflin, "that I injected this issue into this body."

"The Senator brought it up on this floor," replied Reed. "I did," said Heflin, "and I am going to bring it again."

"I am a member of the Ku Klux Klan."

"I have friends of the Catholic faith," he continued. "I know many priests of the Catholic Church; I know three or four Bishops and one or two Archbishops, and I join the Senator from Maryland (Bruce), in the statement that no living Catholic has ever appealed to me to raise a religious dispute or to seek to stir up animosity or provoke war with Mexico."

Reed then for the first time in the current discussion went on public record for a firm hand in his dealings with Mexico.

Hauls Off Coolidge Policy.
"I hold no brief for Mr. Coolidge or his subordinates," he said, "but in the difficult situation that we are in, I do not want to weaken the executive to protect the interests of the United States until and unless it becomes manifest that he is pursuing a dangerous course."

"I do not want to weaken his hand in the effort he is making peacefully to settle the controversy which exists, and, sir, I do not believe any man in any danger of war with Mexico unless it is stirred up by intemperate speeches and intemperate articles in newspapers."

"We have as a nation a very great responsibility. We have said under the Monroe doctrine that no foreign Government shall establish itself upon this hemisphere, and while it is not written in the Monroe doctrine in words, as we have construed that doctrine, we in effect warn other nations, that is, the nations of the Eastern hemisphere, that they must not undertake the conquest of nations on this side of the ocean.

Where the Danger Lies.

"We have, therefore, a difficult and delicate task, one which requires negotiation and frequently great patience. Mr. Wilson was criticised bitterly for his policy of 'watchful waiting' in Mexico. Mr. Wilson was right when he sought to conduct affairs that he would not become really engaged in a war, although we were obliged to invade that country."

A Delicate Problem.
"Mexico has not in all respects kept faith with us, and I desire to see her keep faith, but I am not unkind of the fact that when our Government seeks to accomplish the fulfillment of Mexico's obligations we have a difficult and delicate problem before us, and I am willing to give the administration a chance to work out that problem. If it is pusillanimous, if it makes no show of real earnestness, it will be criticised. If it makes a little show of earnestness, somebody at once declares there is going to be war."

No Religious War.
"There is not going to be any war with Mexico unless Mexico forces that war by violating the rights of the United States, and I do not believe that any man connected with the administration has the slightest notion of engaging in a war because of any religious differences in Mexico. We may regret these differences, we may look upon them with horror; but I undertake to say that we will not violate any principle of international law in order to make war upon Mexico."

"Nevertheless, a firm policy with Mexico is necessary, and on entirely different grounds trouble might arise; but Calvin Coolidge is not going to march an army down into Mexico over a controversy about religion, and nobody is going to let him do it if he should try to."

"There is a condition there of gross and brutal mistreatment. I think not only of the Catholic Church, but of all other churches that have any establishment there. But that is a question for Mexico. It is not for us. I think that what I say now is the sentiment in the hearts of the Catholic population of this country as well as the non-Catholic population."

$100,000 CASH TO BE

IN ST. LOUIS FEB. 1

Balance of Purchase Price

for Missouri State Life

Insurance Co.

A single payment of $100,000—

one of the largest cash remittances ever recorded here in a business will be made Feb. 1 by Rogers

Caldwell, Nashville, Tenn., an investment banker, to former stockholders of the Missouri State Life

Insurance Co., it was learned today.

Caldwell and associates purchased control of the company a year ago for $14,000,000. At that time 30 per cent of the principal was paid. Caldwell recently notified former holders of stock that the remaining 70 per cent would be paid when the interest comes due on Feb. 1.

The chief beneficiary of the sale will be M. H. Singleton, president of the company during phenomenal growth in the years preceding the sale. He has sons, Edward C. and J. H.

Singleton, will receive approximately $6,000,000 of the Caldwell payment.

Among other St. Louisans to participate in the payment and the amounts they are expected to receive on the sale of the stock are: W. Frank Carter, attorney

$254,000; Charles A. Leup banker, $350,000; Virgil Rule, attorney, $180,000; and Harry P.

Knight, investment banker, $150,- 000.

One of the terms of the sale,

as has been told, was that Singelton remain with the company for three years. For that concession he received an additional $25 for each of $6,000 shares, which sold at a base price of $75 each.

OHIO MAYOR ARRESTED AGAIN
Under Rethery Charge, He Is Held on Complaint of Woman.

NEWARK, O., Jan. 19.—Mayor W. H. Stevens, arrested on a charge of forcing the attention upon Mrs. Irene Chisholm, a widow, and upon her daughter, the action was only another event in the history of the mayor's career. Stevens was released from jail under $500 bond. He already was under $500 bond to answer charges of molesting women, brought last month by an official of the city. Stevens' wife, Mrs. Stevens, charged to the federal law in January, 1926.

SENATE REJECTS TURKISH TREATY BY SIX VOTES

Pact Establishing Relations With Angora Government Gets 50 Votes to 34, but Lacks Two-Thirds

TEMPORARY PACT ENDS FEB. 20

Treaty Beaten Because It Did Not Provide Protection for Non-Moslem Population.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—By a margin of six votes, the Senate has rejected the Lausanne treaty establishing relations with Turkey.

As a result, the United States will be without formal relations with Turkey until after Feb. 20, the date set for expiration of the temporary pact.

The Senate vote, taken late yesterday in executive session after several weeks of spirited debate, found the treaty opposed by 34 Democrats in opposition.

Leaders of Opposition
Senator Benton, a Virginia Republican, led the opposition. He argued that the treaty did not provide for the protection of non-Moslem minorities in Turkey.

Some authorities believe the Senate's action will have an immediate effect since the treaty was rejected by a majority of the Senate.

In the absence of any other treaty, the United States will be without formal relations with Turkey until after Feb. 20.

London Doctor Finds Real Cause of Stomach Gas

AS A RESULT of special studies made at one of London's leading hospitals, a famous English specialist asserts that most stomach and bowel trouble is due to just one cause—Intestinal Stasis. This disease, which, it is said, afflicts three out of every four people, is directly caused by improper food, lack of correct exercise and other faults of modern life.

Intestinal Stasis
INTESTINAL STASIS, in everyday language, means the too slow movement of waste food matter through the intestines. This matter, from which the body has taken all the nourishment, is not promptly passed out of the bowels, but due to intestinal weakness, it remains many hours or even days longer than it should. This waste matter then ferments, forms gas and poisons, and is the cause of sour stomach, gas bloating and indigestion.

A person may have Intestinal Stasis and yet not be noticeably constipated. The bowels may move once or even twice a day, but the movements are only partial. Enough old matter is left to form gas, hinder digestion and poison the system.

Action Needed on Both Bowels
ORDINARY laxatives or pills seldom overcome Intestinal Stasis. Nor do soda or magnesia give more than temporary relief from stomach gas. Intestinal Stasis, and the other diseases of which it is the cause, can be relieved permanently only by continued REAL intestinal cleansing.

Dr. Carl Westchke, in his private practice, first perfected the bowel cleanser and intestinal propellant now known as Adlerika. It is a compound of the best saline intestinal evacuant with vegetable

ALL PAN-AMERICAN FLYERS HAVE REACHED CANAL ZONE

Last Three Planes Land After Flight From Arenas, Costa Rica.

By the Associated Press.
FRANCE FIELD, Panama Canal Zone, Jan. 19.—All five planes of the United States Army good will flotilla have completed the first division of the 20,000-mile flight from San Antonio, Tex., over Central and South American countries. They left San Antonio Dec. 21 and have covered 2500 miles.

Escorted by 20 planes in battle formation, the San Antonio, San Francisco and Detroit reached the canal zone from Punta Arenas, Costa Rica, last evening. The other two planes, the New York and the St. Louis, arrived Saturday. After a brief rest, the flyers, in command of Maj. Herbert A. Dargatzis, will take off for Valdivia, Chile, where they will turn east to Argentina.

KILLS FRIEND IN FIGHT OVER WIFE, ALSO SHOT

Charles Smith of Edwardsville Says Victim Threatened to Take Mate Away.

Jealousies arising after Charles Smith of Edwardsville took Clarence H. Dickerson, son of life-long friends, into his home to board in November, after the death of Dickerson's parents, culminated last night in the fatal shooting of Dickerson and slight wounding of Mrs. Agnes Smith.

Smith, who is employed in an Edwardsville brick plant, is 35 years old. Mrs. Smith is 42, and Dickerson was 32. Mrs. Smith and her husband were held in the County Jail at Edwardsville today. Mrs. Smith is in a hysterical condition.

Told Police His Story.
Smith remained home from work yesterday for the only day in two years except when he attended the funeral of Dickerson's father and mother. This time it was to lay before police the situation in his home. He told them that the first rift in his friendship with Dickerson came when Dickerson began to insist they move into a better house, possibly, he thought afterward, for its effect on Mrs. Smith.

At any rate, he observed it did have an effect on Mrs. Smith, and therefore noticed Dickerson was somewhat attentive to her, he said. Recently Smith related, the attentions had increased to the point where Dickerson openly threatened to take Mrs. Smith away.

Smith said his revolver and fired two shots. The first went wild, he said. Mrs. Smith darted between the men, and the second shot passed through the flesh of her forearm and hit Dickerson in the chest.

Dickerson ran from the house and about 200 yards to a grocery store, to call a physician but was unable to talk. The grocer, seeing his wound, made the telephone call. Dickerson looked at his injury in a looking glass set in a refrigerator door, walked from the store, and back to Smith's home, where he was found by his wife.

Dickerson raised his hand again to strike him, and fell dead, Smith said.

STATE DEPARTMENT CLERK ADMITS STEALING QUESTIONS
W. A. Miller Confesses He Copied Them in Advance of Examination; New Test Ordered.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The leak which led to irregularities in the Foreign Service examination, conducted under the supervision of the Civil Service Commission on Jan. 11, has been traced to Walter A. Miller, a clerk in the office of Assistant Secretary of State Butler.

Miller, formerly of Philadelphia, has confessed, according to the State Department, to having "illicitly acquired the advance proof of the examination" and to having "copied therefrom the full approved text."

Subsequently, Miller is alleged to have given this text to certain unauthorized persons. About 200 candidates from 15 cities are affected by the new examination order. Many of them already have sailed for language study in Europe; at least one has set off for India.

Miller's case will be referred to the Attorney-General, although it could not be ascertained exactly what form of punishment would be meted out. Miller has been a clerk at the State Department since 1924, coming over from the Navy Department, where he served in the same capacity during the years 1923 and 1924.

$25,000 SWINDLES CHARGED
New Orleans Prisoners Accused of Defrauding Farmers.
By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 19.—J. K. Lewis and John B. Lewis, operators of the Crescent Fruit & Brokerage Co., are in custody today with Peter Tardo, an employee, on charges of fraudulent use of the United States mails. Federal authorities charged the men have swindled farmers in different sections of the country out of more than $25,000.

Officials said the men ordered peaches, apples, potatoes and melons from growers at prices above the market and sold the produce on the local markets at figures below the prices charged elsewhere. The firm, they alleged, was able to operate successfully in that manner, because there was no intention of paying the producer unless forced to do so. Creditors who journeyed to New Orleans in attempts to collect were entertained elaborately in an attempt to silence them, officials said.

FOR COLORADO RIVER CONTROL

President, However, Does Not Indorse Any Particular Bill.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Although States in the Colorado River basin are at loggerheads over a development program, President Coolidge is hopeful that legislation looking to construction of a dam for flood control, irrigation and power purposes will be enacted at this session of Congress.

This was disclosed at the White House, with the added statement that the President is not endorsing any particular bill. Meanwhile at the capital, an unsuccessful attempt was being made to reconcile differences between Utah and California over Boulder Dam legislation. Senator Phelan (Rep.) of California announced he would press for early Senate action on the Boulder Dam bill.

Children Cry For

When Baby Complains.

There are many ways a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe. Fletcher's Castoria safely relieves

27 germ diseases your hands may carry home

Remove germs, as well as dirt, with this purifying toilet soap

COUNTLESS times each day your hands come in contact with germs.

Door-knobs, money, public telephones, car-straps—these are only a few of the many things you must touch, all of which may transmit germs to your hands.

Is it any wonder that health authorities say hands are among the chief carriers of sickness? Note below list of 27 germ diseases hands may spread.

Surely for your own sake—for the sake of others—you'll gladly take this simple protective measure. Wash hands oftener—always—with the purifying toilet soap that removes germs, as well as dirt.

Makes skin feel fine

In millions of homes Lifebuoy is the favorite toilet soap. Young and old alike enjoy its cleansing and refreshing qualities.

Lifebuoy's bland, soothing oils make the skin healthier—keep it clear and satin-smooth. Its gentle, antiseptic element stops perspiration odors.

And, above everything else, Lifebuoy offers real measures of protection against germ diseases. Its antiseptic lather removes germs, as well as dirt.

An agreeable hygienic scent you'll learn to love

Lifebuoy is so different from other toilet and bath soaps that even its scent is different.

Not a perfume, but a clean, pleasantly hygienic scent which proves Lifebuoy gives greater protection. Even before you've finished your first cake, you'll learn to love this cleanest of all soap scents, which quickly evaporates after rinsing.

Without its antiseptic, Lifebuoy would still be a wonderful toilet soap—but it wouldn't give you the same measure of protection.

Like millions of others, once you form the Lifebuoy habit, you'll wonder how any other soap ever satisfied you.

Safer—yet costs no more

You wash and bathe with some soap anyway. So why not use Lifebuoy, which costs no more—probably less—than the soap you are now using? The protection it gives you is actually free.

You can get Lifebuoy wherever soap is sold. You will know it by the red box and the cake—orange-red, the color of its pure palm-fruit oils.

Voices

THE day is full of voices—meaningless, insistent. They drone upon the street, chatter at parties, hurl snatches of themselves at you from passing automobiles, rise up and down dramatically from open-air platforms, end with question marks at the office, trail after you on street cars. . . . Your ears, forever open, almost have to hear.

YET in this same room with you are voices of utmost silence, whose every word concerns you. You control them more surely than you control telephone or radio. Open a page—they talk to you quietly. Close a page—they are through. They are the voices of the advertisement. They talk direct to you. Tell of better roofing for your home, more protective paint for its walls. Shoes your youngsters can't scuffle out easily. Salads, delicious drinks, to gratify you. Reinforced hosiery, cooler underwear, purer soaps. You believe in these voices, for they have to be sincere. Else they would not be in these pages—could not have nation's belief. You buy the goods they proffer, for you know already what those goods will do. And wide belief has lowered their prices. They are economical—sure!

LOOSE products everywhere in stores are crying out, "Buy me!" But behind the voice of the advertised product is the voice of authority. The voice that tells the why, what, when, where and how of the goods you buy.

Heed these courteous voices often. Read the advertisements every day

STOCK MARKET AVERAGES

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

Officers returned an upward curve to the car while driving on the slick, wet road today when officers arrived to find the car skidding and in the middle of the street, although the car's front end was still in the street. There were no other cars in the area, and the car was not in the middle of the street. The car was not in the middle of the street. The car was not in the middle of the street.

Funds Plentiful.

"The price of the drug, which is a 100-milligram capsule, appeared to have a little less in the drop in call rates to 4 per cent after reveals had been arranged at 4 1/2 per cent. The firm reported finding a plentiful supply with General, but after the drop to 4 per cent, it was still available at 4 1/2 per cent. The "outside" market was still a little higher, as the week's report in demand for the drug was still in excess of the supply. The firm's stock was still in the hands of the firm, but the firm's stock was Prospects of Easy Money.

...under the revived possibility of a reduction in the redemptive rate of the Federal Reserve bank to increase the recent decline in the stock market was believed to forecast a long period of comfortable money rates and monetary expansion. It was believed a drop in the prime rate would put more pressure on the stock market. Prospects for lower rates were stimulated by the possibility of a decline in the rate of inflation. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York, in its weekly "Outlook for the Money Market," said that the "General view of the speculative market is that a recent rally including U.S. foreign exchanges rates at a standard, and fluctuations were significantly higher. Spanish rates fell back 10 points and American stocks slipped the same distance, but these movements were influenced largely by London transactions. A distinct improvement was noted in Mexican exchange which pointed a higher price.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Iron Age market report: Finished steel is still in excess of volume. Current orders are not so large as in former gauged to be. Shipments and are for a few months. That in most products, there is a building up of backlogs. The price schedule shows little change, but some output slightly above the normal level.

Deny Stock Melon Decision

On Feb. 12, 1964, the Student Council of the University of Chicago announced that it was considering a proposal to declare a full dividend of an endowment fund.

The board of directors of the Student Council of Chicago authorized the statement today that all members of the council had decided to declare on Feb. 12 a full and complete dividend, as the council had previously stated that the amount of a dividend declared in the future had been given no consideration.

A Great Opportunity for an Experienced Trust Executive

One of our clients—an old, but aggressive Trust Company, the largest in its State, located in a fine growing city of 100,000, and with ramifications throughout several States, is seeking an experienced, alert and progressive Trust Executive.

Because the position demands more than a mere knowledge of Trust work the man sought must be a real executive—a leader, ambitious, personable. He need not be occupying an executive position at the present time, but must have the qualities necessary for filling such a position. He must primarily be familiar with details of a trust department, but capable of going far beyond details in creating and holding new business. He should be between 25 and 45, and married. His record must be clean.

Mr. Sullivan Talks to London By Radiophone

NEW YORK.

THE first telephone call between the Old World and my office took place several days ago, marking an epoch, or something.

The ceremony took place in the public telephone booth in the Fortieth street end of the Times Square subway station. We wore a blue serge suit, a faded necktie of the same hue, a white shirt with black pin stripes, and a derby.

The tip of the derby kept colliding with the telephone every time we tried to talk, causing the derby to fall off, but it is expected that as the source of transatlantic telephony is perfected, the geniuses working on the great system will find some way of eliminating this inconvenience.

After all, when Samuel F. B. Morse first invented the telegraph, most men wore long whiskers, which kept getting tangled in the instrument. It was a brilliant young inventor named Edison who some time later perfected the device by which telegraphers were able to tie their whiskers behind their ears while telegraphing.

Others present in the telephone booth at the ceremony were Samuel F. B. Morse, Eli Whitney, inventor of the cotton gin; Frank Hedy, inventor of the accordion; John D. Rockefeller, Jr., inventor of the rock, and Dudley Field Malone, representing Gene Tunney, the English Channel and all that is good and true and beautiful in American life.

The following is a transcript of the conversation that took place at this end of the wire.

Mr. Sullivan: Would you like to hear me whistle?

London: No.

At this point the conversation became unintelligible. The experts of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. declared that this was due to the fact that a high pressure area off Newfoundland had met another high pressure area and that the two were not on speaking terms.

Other experts declared that this was not the case, the real situation being that two red-winged geese were sitting on the telephone wire connecting Portland, Me., with New Harbor. Some way eventually be found, of course, to prevent red-winged geese from using the transatlantic telephone wire as a spooning parlor. At present, as experts of the A. T. & T. explained, the best we can do is to wait.

The conversation then was resumed.

Mr. Sullivan: Would you like to hear me whistle?

The Lord Mayor of London: This is the Lord Mayor of London. We are having very fine weather here. How are all your folks?

Mr. Sullivan: We are having very fine weather here. It is a very clear day. I am standing in the public telephone booth in the Times Square subway station. The air is very clear here.

The Lord Mayor: We are having very fine weather here. Miss Jane Cow—What hath God wrought?

Mr. Sullivan: Everybody in London quite sure they wouldn't like to hear me whistle?

Everybody in London—Quite, quite sure.

At this point Miss Maude Adams, in the role of Mr. Sullivan, suddenly advances to the footlights, stretches out her arms and in that marvelous, tear-stained voice that has made her the idol of theatergoers wherever English is spoken, says, "Oh, dear people, SAY you would like to hear Mr. Sullivan whistle."

At the end of her little speech there is not a dry eye in the house and from the husky throats of the 2000 children, young and old, comprising the audience there comes the lusty shout, "Oh, we would, we would, we would."

What a master of whimsy this Barrie man is!

Mr. Gifford: Four score and seven years ago, our fathers brought forth—

(At this point a Bronx express rumbled into the station and conversation was interrupted until it had rumbled out of hearing. Some day some Edison of the future will find a way to eliminate Bronx express. Until then we can only marvel and anticipate.)

Mr. Sullivan: You're quite sure you wouldn't care to hear me whistle?

The Lord Mayor: The weather here today is lovely. There is a natural bond of union between the United States and England. We must stand forever together. Let there be peace, amity and—

Mr. Gifford: But I say to you gentlemen, that this day—

Voice—Yes, sir, I don't mean maybe—

Who?—forty pounds—

What?—What?—four years of the 15th received and contents noted—

Another Gentleman—OPERATOR!!!

Bum Rodgers—It is lovely weather up here. From where I—

Mr. Sullivan: Would ANYBODY like to hear me whistle?

Everybody: NO!!!

Mr. Sullivan: Are you sure?

The Lord Mayor: Positive.

Mr. Sullivan: You say never get another chance like this.

Mr. Gifford—That we may take an increased measure of devotion—

Mr. Sullivan: I'll whistle anybody for five dollars.

Mr. Sullivan whistles.

WORK.

CHILDREN need work as much as they need food. The little child begs for something to do. The boys and girls demand to know what they can do. The adolescent, threatened of work, given imitation tasks, put off with geese, instead of well-directed efforts toward a definite goal, gives up and loaf. If every child was allowed to work according to his tastes and power, childhood and youth would be far less a problem than it is now.

The teachers have trouble with the children in the classroom because there is not enough work for the children to do. All the usual school offers should be between the ages of six and fourteen is a pencil and a sheet of paper. That sort of activity soon exhausts a child's interest because his limit is soon reached. What he craves is something to fill his hands. He wants a handful of work.

Watch the delight of the boy who is allowed to rub off the blackboard, or to water the two dying geraniums in the window seat. The board is rubbed and rubbed until the teacher remembers the boy and separates him from the eraser.

The plants are singularly exposed to drought with water, the floor is decorated with trails and puddles that have to be laboriously wiped up. It takes five minutes at least to shake out the rug and hang it up, and five more to put the watering can away. The boy is aching to do something. His body is creating energy faster than he can use it while sitting on a bench listening. He is a hand-mimed creature and his whole nature is pressing toward his finger tips. Yet he is tied to the lead pencil.

When he gets to high school he is already spoiled. So unaccustomed to work of any kind he slumps along through his classes satisfied with a passing mark if he can get it, honored to death, averse to any effort of mind or body. There is yet time to save him if the high school were equipped with needs. For every classroom of regular type the school needs a shop, or practice room. There should be some place where every student in some form or other so that a child may become acquainted through his hands with the household machinery. Boy and girl alike need this training.

I am not advocating trade education for every child, but I am advocating the use of his hands for whatever service he may need.

What would make each child familiar with the plumbing of a house and its heating and ventilation, the electric equipment of a modern house, the mechanism of an engine and its care, the kitchen and all that is related to it, the family budget and all that is related to it, carpentry, millinery, cooking, metal work, science, laboratory experience, music, art, child hygiene, personal home hygiene, personal finance, any other occupation or interest that touches home life. The child who has the primary grade should be equipped for living. At present he leaves high school ready to learn about living. And usually he is perished because he had no opportunity to test them by experience that he is going to have hard work learning to adjust himself to the business of living.

The academic work could be greatly simplified in many schools and hand training experience, training, added to it with great benefit to the children.

The Magnifying Mirror.

Mirrors should play an even greater role in women's lives than they do. Not that they don't have enough, but that they don't have the right kind. Nor do they hang them in the right places. A mirror should magnify rather than beautify. It should bring out all the little wrinkles and blemishes. When you buy a mirror for your boudoir or compact buy one that magnifies.

Secrets of Health And Success

Certain Diseases Among Teachers.

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D.
Former President of the American Medical Association.

THE investigation of Fairchild, based on consecutive study of 200 teachers on sick leave and on intermittent observation of some 14,000 other teachers (London Lancet), show interesting facts relating to the liability of teachers to certain diseases. They, for instance, are singularly exposed to influenza at times of its epidemic prevalence. As I pointed out yesterday and on repeated other occasions, influenza is liable to induce heart disease if great care is not taken during convalescence.

But influenza is likewise liable to bring on lung complications as well as cardiac and is a great foe of the woman who has to leave her home daily. The teacher is constantly tempted, often by the necessities of her school, to go out on a chilly winter morning when it may be only a cold, and this, at a great disadvantage, with her domestic duties.

Influenza is a most serious school disease, and I recommend preventive inoculation in the schools on a large scale.

Thirty-six cases out of the 300 were bronchitis or pneumonia. These patients were mostly elderly, chronic bronchitis is most common in stout, fleshy women who lead sedentary lives, and is a serious source of inefficiency from 50 onward. It is to be hoped that the more active young generation will become comparatively free from this danger by the more systematic practice of immunization.

Laryngitis is responsible for many prolonged absences from school, and may be called an occupational disease of teachers. Its causes are chiefly noise, dust and draught in the schoolroom, and its prevention is high school hygiene. Cigarette-smoking is sometimes to blame, but bad voice production, which was once a common cause, is now rare, as the subject is well taught in college. Some of these cases benefited greatly, even after the age of 50, by having their voices trained.

There are 18 cases of exophthalmic goiter in the 300 studied by Fairchild—a really very large proportion. It is due to excessive functioning of the thyroid gland. It has engaged the attention of the medical authorities, who regard it as a bar to entering the teaching profession. One of its symptoms is a temperamental instability which is a peculiar handicap to the teacher.

The strain of examination, and more still, that of work in the classroom, tend to make the trouble worse. Only four out of the 18 cases have done well under rest and treatment, largely because, in some, the necessity for prompt

By Marguerite Martyn.

PROBABLY no mention of it is made in the school catalogue, possibly the faculty knows nothing about it, but it is the idea of some enterprising member of the department store staff, but one of the extra-curricular interests of coeds at Washington University is learning and demonstrating what is the smartest thing for a college girl to wear upon each occasion of her school day and how to wear it just as a fashion show model should.

In the music hall of a department store last Saturday afternoon a group of Washington University girl students acted as mannequins, wearing garments selected by authorities in the sports departments.

These sketches, by the way, as the youthful models promulgated, and promulgated in true professional manner through five some representing episodes in the life of a fashionable girl's day and evening.

CHAPTER 23

What Has Gone Before:

SALLY HAD BEEN A VERY busy girl. She had been to the office of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, where she had been working for some time. She had been to the office of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, where she had been working for some time. She had been to the office of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, where she had been working for some time.

SALLY HAD BEEN A VERY busy girl. She had been to the office of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, where she had been working for some time. She had been to the office of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, where she had been working for some time. She had been to the office of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, where she had been working for some time.

But, but we'd rather pay something. She was a great blonde girl, very good natured. "All right," he said, "I'll pay you what you are paying at your boarding house. That will cover the electricity and telephone and water and heat. I'll give you my bank address. You can send it in to them. Now, no more back talk. It will be a real favor to me if you'll do it."

Consequently, after Flo called Sally moved out of Mrs. McDonald's to the real room of Nora, the landlady and the other boarders. She moved out of her room and took up her things in the room which was in the Boarding Porters.

What a flat! A living room like a feteaux, even the fireplace had a precious stone. Par too many cushions and couches. A kitchen with a sink and a stove. A bathroom with green walls upon which black painted fish swam gaily and a sunken tub of enormous proportions. And a bedroom like nothing on earth, all done in blue and rose with tulle bedspreads and curtains and frilly chairs and a door mirror and a huge carved dresser.

The two girls were like children, they were so charmed with their new surroundings. No more of the old and unhappy Janet, no more of the old and unhappy Janet, no more of the old and unhappy Janet.

Now in a way she had more time to herself. She was home more often than before. And she had a room of her own. And she had a room of her own. And she had a room of her own.

Now in a way she had more time to herself. She was home more often than before. And she had a room of her own. And she had a room of her own. And she had a room of her own.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query, personal and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be published, except letters on medical questions of undoubted accuracy taken accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

READER.—The premium on the classification of the telephone calls you will find addresses in the type you desire.

MR. E. L. W.—For information the St. Louis Police Department is at Police Headquarters.

MR. E. L. W.—We do not give horoscopes in this column. You might get information in old newspapers at the Public Library for the dates you mention.

MR. E. L. W.—You will find many facts at the Public Library that will provide the information about the details you desire would require too much space in the column.

MR. E. L. W.—Lent from cleaning details may simply be brushed from the leather chair or wiped with a damp cloth. If this does not answer your query, please write again, stating just what you mean by this.

MR. E. L. W.—The letters A and I of the alphabet are the only ones that can be correctly called words in the ordinary sense. A word is a combination of sounds used as a symbol of an idea or conception, or combination such as a name, called a word.

MR. E. L. W.—We cannot recommend any other concerns in this matter. Any bank that you may have had business with in the past might arrange a loan on your property for you. However, you would not get as much as you desire, according to your letter.

MR. E. L. W.—Bookkeeping as a business or profession requires dependability, accuracy, plain handwriting, a quick mind, ability to adapt one's self to the type of business covered by the books, determination to stay on the job until finished, good health and good disposition. The unpleasant side of the work is that exercise for body and mind is limited, and the compensation is not great.

Young persons studying bookkeeping should bear in mind that only by continued study will they escape the routine of the usual bookkeeper. Ambitious bookkeepers become accountants, then certified public accountants, auditors, tax experts or enter the banking business and advance in that line of endeavor. Courses in various financial subjects are given at colleges and universities for day and night students so that a person may earn a living by daytime bookkeeping while preparing for bank or more responsible position at night.

MR. H. E. M.—According to Section 1323 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri, a married woman may convey lands without the signature of her husband or the deed. But practically the law means that a married person, man or woman, can convey his or her own rights in real estate, regardless of the manner in which such real estate was acquired, without the signature of the husband or wife, but neither can give up the dowry rights also signs the deed and in so doing waives her dowry claim on the property. When either a husband or a wife buys property, the other's right of claim becomes effective immediately.

efficient

It is snapped on and off with a simple switch—hooks up easily to your set, with its taps for 225, 45, 90 and 135 volts.

The current is filtered and smoothed out so that it is silent and hum-free. It has a regulator tube that keeps the current steady, supplying exactly the right voltage even for the many tube sets, or the power-tube sets!

Designed by General Electric, Westinghouse and RCA engineers.

Spring Halls.

New York, Spring hats less toward fine hat embroidery and trimming. The plain little felt hat has departed from our midst. In its place is a flat even closer fitting but into which is worked straw, velvet and felt. Grain ribbon trimming has become common and has lost its place on up-to-date hats.
